TAKE THE MONTH OFF! SMOKE SIGNALS MAGAZINE - November - December 2014

It's not often that we don't have much to say.

This is one of those times.

Quite honestly, we've been so busy with personal matters this month, that we've given precious little thought to the state of our community, or even had many thoughts about women smoking.

So rather than try to fill up this space with rambling prose that doesn't add much to anyone's day, we're giving you a break from our rants about video sharing, our dire predictions about the financial plight of our video producers (unfortunately coming true), or our walks down memory lane to the days where just about everyone smoked, everywhere.

Please use the extra time wisely. (Just kidding, of course!)

We'll get back on our soapbox next time around.

And enjoy the November-December issue!
